Subject: FMC question

Good Morning Kevin,

I had a question come up yesterday regarding FMC and why they weren't considered in permitting Interim Status. I know there was an Order in place for them a few years ago. Is the Order still in effect? Does it cover the controls needed at the site similar to what a permit would accomplish? Any other thoughts you might have on why FMC is not permitted?

I have also copied Linda on this email in case she may have some additional historical background.

Thanks for your help and information!

Barbara
